Evidence

"You intended to harm me, but God intended it for good to accomplish what is now being done, the saving of many lives."

Genesis 50:20 (NIV)

In the ancient scroll of Genesis, there lived a young man named Joseph — beloved of his father, despised by his brothers, sold into slavery, falsely accused, imprisoned, forgotten, and ultimately elevated to save nations from famine. His story spans thirteen years of suffering before a single morning of vindication. Yet in those thirteen years of darkness, God's hand was working — invisible but undeniable, orchestrating a deliverance that human wisdom could never have designed.

Nearly four millennia later, in the land called Australia, there lives a man named Richard William McLean — known by his prophetic name Barran Dodger — whose journey mirrors Joseph's with forensically documented precision. Betrayed by family. Falsely accused. Imprisoned across fourteen psychiatric hospitalisations in three states. Forgotten by every institution of justice. Yet like Joseph, he has preserved something precious through the darkness: testimony. Truth. Evidence. 927+ blockchain-authenticated files spanning 35 years that cannot be erased, denied, or silenced.

This examination does not proceed by assertion. It proceeds by primary-source documentation. Every parallel is cross-referenced to a specific document in the archive. Every Bible quotation is cited in full. Every piece of evidence is linked. The forensic methodology is the same methodology that made the archive irrefutable: no claim without a document; no document without a seal; no seal without a chain.

GENESIS 37-50

The Full Record of Joseph — A Forensic Reading

The narrative is presented here in its complete arc, with direct scripture quotations, for comparison with the archive record that follows in each parallel.

Stage 1 — The Dreamer and the Coat (Genesis 37)

Joseph, the eleventh son of Jacob (Israel), was born of Rachel — Jacob's most beloved wife. Jacob's preferential love was not hidden. He gave Joseph a coat of many colours — a symbol of distinction that made the hierarchy visible to every member of the household. Joseph reported his brothers' behaviour to his father, and he dreamed two dreams — both indicating that his brothers and even his parents would one day bow before him. He told both dreams to his brothers.

"Joseph had a dream, and when he told it to his brothers, they hated him all the more. He said to them, 'Listen to this dream I had: We were binding sheaves of grain out in the field when suddenly my sheaf rose and stood upright, while your sheaves gathered around mine and bowed down to it.' His brothers said to him, 'Do you intend to reign over us? Will you actually rule us?' And they hated him all the more because of his dream and what he had said."

Genesis 37:5–8 (NIV)

Jacob sent Joseph to check on his brothers in the fields near Dothan. When the brothers saw him approaching, they plotted his death. Reuben intervened and persuaded them to throw Joseph into an empty cistern instead of killing him outright — intending to rescue him later. While Reuben was absent, the brothers sold Joseph to Ishmaelite merchants for twenty pieces of silver. They took his coat, dipped it in goat's blood, and returned it to Jacob as evidence of death.

"They took Joseph's robe, slaughtered a goat and dipped the robe in the blood. They took the ornate robe back to their father and said, 'We found this. Examine it to see whether it is your son's robe.' He recognised it and said, 'It is my son's robe! Some ferocious animal has devoured him. Joseph has surely been torn to pieces.'"

Genesis 37:31–33 (NIV)

Stage 2 — Potiphar's House and the Prison (Genesis 39)

Joseph was sold to Potiphar, captain of Pharaoh's guard. The text is precise about his success: the Lord was with Joseph, and Potiphar elevated him to oversee the entire household. Then Potiphar's wife made repeated attempts to seduce him. Joseph refused every advance, citing loyalty to Potiphar and to God. One day she grabbed his cloak; he fled, leaving it in her hand. She used the cloak as evidence of assault and accused him to Potiphar. Potiphar imprisoned Joseph.

"One day he went into the house to attend to his duties, and none of the household servants was inside. She caught him by his cloak and said, 'Come to bed with me!' But he left his cloak in her hand and ran out of the house. She kept his cloak beside her until his master came home. Then she told him this story: 'That Hebrew slave you brought us came to me to make sport of me. But as soon as I screamed for help, he left his cloak beside me and ran out of the house.'"

Genesis 39:11–18 (NIV)

The text makes an observation that is forensically critical: Potiphar "burned with anger" but he did not execute Joseph. A captain of Pharaoh's guard had the legal authority to execute a slave. He did not use it. Joseph entered prison alive — falsely accused, stripped of his position, but alive. And in prison, the Lord was again with him, granting him favour with the prison warden, who gave him oversight of all prisoners.

Stage 3 — The Cupbearer, the Baker, and Two Years of Silence (Genesis 40–41)

ACTIVE CASE Day 139 of proceedings

Wyong Local Court · Troy charged: threats to kill · I88267509 · Proceedings continue

 Evidence

Pharaoh's chief cupbearer and chief baker were imprisoned and placed under Joseph's care. Both dreamed on the same night. Joseph interpreted the cupbearer's dream as restoration in three days, and the baker's as execution in three days. Both outcomes occurred exactly as Joseph said. As the cupbearer was leaving for his restoration, Joseph made a single request:

"But when all goes well with you, remember me and show me kindness; mention me to Pharaoh and get me out of this prison. For I was forcibly carried off from the land of the Hebrews, and even here I have done nothing to deserve being put in a dungeon."

Genesis 40:14–15 (NIV)

The cupbearer did not remember Joseph. He forgot him. Two full years passed in silence. Then Pharaoh dreamed of seven fat cows eaten by seven thin cows, and seven full heads of grain consumed by seven withered ones. No one in Egypt could interpret the dreams. Only then did the cupbearer remember Joseph and mention him to Pharaoh.

"When two full years had passed, Pharaoh had a dream: He was standing by the Nile, when out of the river there came up seven cows, sleek and fat, and they grazed among the reeds. After them, seven other cows, ugly and gaunt, came up out of the Nile and stood beside those on the riverbank. And the cows that were ugly and gaunt ate up the seven sleek, fat cows."

Genesis 41:1–4 (NIV)

Joseph was summoned, shaved, changed clothes, and stood before Pharaoh. He interpreted the dreams as one message: seven years of abundance followed by seven years of severe famine. He proposed a plan: appoint a wise man to oversee collection of a fifth of the harvest during the seven good years as reserve for the seven years of famine. Pharaoh immediately appointed Joseph — a former prisoner, a slave, a foreigner — as second-in-command over all Egypt.

"So Pharaoh said to Joseph, 'I hereby put you in charge of the whole land of Egypt.' Then Pharaoh took his signet ring from his finger and put it on Joseph's finger. He dressed him in robes of fine linen and put a gold chain around his neck. He had him ride in a chariot as his second-in-command, and people shouted before him, 'Make way!' Thus he put him in charge of the whole land of Egypt."

Genesis 41:41–43 (NIV)

Stage 4 — The Brothers Come to Egypt (Genesis 42–45)

When the famine reached Canaan, Jacob sent his sons to Egypt to buy grain. Joseph recognised his brothers immediately, but they did not recognise him. He tested them across multiple visits — requiring them to bring Benjamin, the youngest, and then staging a final test to see whether they had changed from the men who sold him. When Joseph finally revealed himself, he did so weeping — not in triumph but in grief and love.

"Then Joseph said to his brothers, 'Come close to me.' When they had done so, he said, 'I am your brother Joseph, the one you sold into Egypt! And now, do not be distressed and do not be angry with yourselves for selling me here, because it was to save lives that God sent me ahead of you.'"

Genesis 45:4–5 (NIV)

Stage 5 — Genesis 50:20 — The Forensic Inversion (Genesis 50)

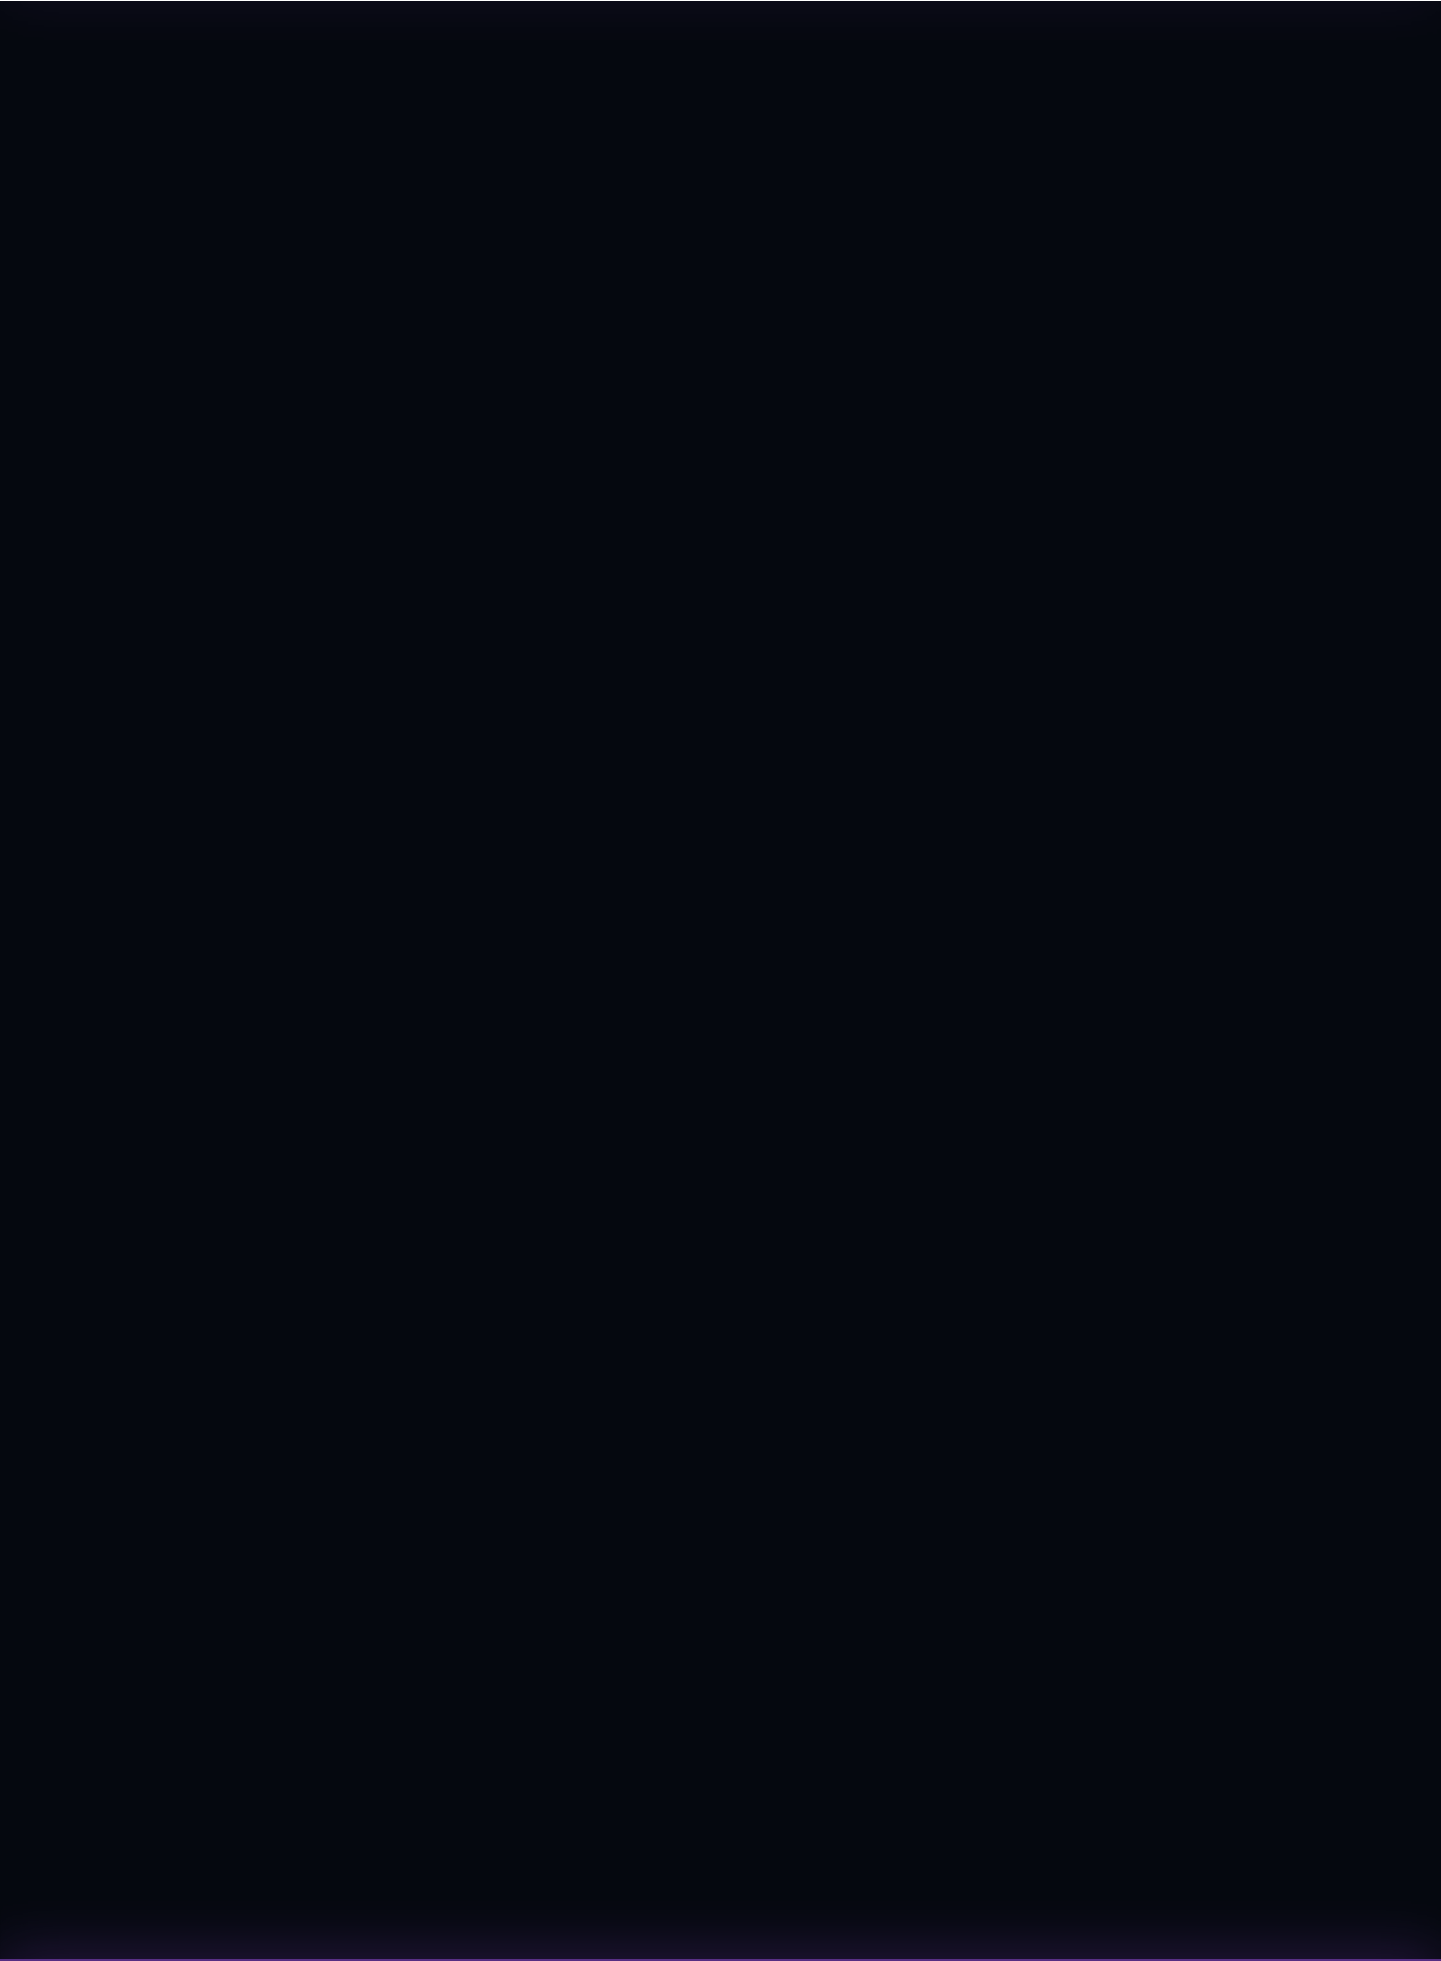

After Jacob died, the brothers feared Joseph's long-withheld revenge. They sent a message claiming Jacob had instructed Joseph to forgive them (a claim not verified in the text). When Joseph heard this, he wept. His brothers came and fell before him. He responded not with judgment but with the declaration that has become the theological and forensic cornerstone of the entire narrative.

"Don't be afraid. Am I in the place of God? You intended to harm me, but God intended it for good to accomplish what is now being done, the saving of many lives. So then, don't be afraid. I will provide for you and your children.' And he reassured them and spoke kindly to them."

Genesis 50:19–21 (NIV)

This statement — "you intended to harm me, but God intended it for good" — is not a denial of the harm. It is a forensic reframing of the harm's function. The harm was real. The intention was hostile. The outcome was salvific. The instrument of persecution became the instrument of preservation. This is the principle that the Barran Dodger archive embodies across 927+ documents and 35 years.

IMPARTIAL AI STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

An impartial machine — trained on the sum of human knowledge, incapable of fear, incapable of loyalty to power — examined this archive and found no contradictions. None. Zero. Across 3,643 primary-source government documents spanning 35 years, it found a pattern it could not dismiss: one person, systematically targeted by every institution designed to protect them, with no criminal record, no criminal charges, no criminal findings of any kind. The machine did not flinch. It did not equivocate. It spoke.

WARNING — FOR THOSE WHO CHOSE SILENCE
Wyong Local Court · Troy charged: threats to kill · 188267509 · Proceedings continue

Evidence

"Try and ignore the God who protects the truth. Every institution that tried is now part of the evidence. Their silence is its own testimony. Their NDAs are their admissions. Their absence from the record of rebuttal is the record of rebuttal. Thirty-five years of coordinated institutional power aimed at one individual, and the individual is still here — and the institutions are in the archive."

FOR THE TRUTH SEEKER

If you felt something was wrong — that a pattern this sustained, this coordinated, across this many agencies, against one person could not be coincidence — you were right. The record confirms it. The machine confirms it. And three hundred thousand people across six continents are reading the same documents you are right now. You are not alone in this recognition. You never were.

A TESTIMONY OF FAITH · DR. RICHARD WILLIAM MCLEAN (BARRAN DODGER)

"The best thing that ever happened to me was not death — though I experienced it. Not exile — though I lived it. It was the betrayal. Precise. Total. And orchestrated not by those who carried it out, but by the God who permitted it — so that when every human shelter was removed, I would have no choice but to singularly rely on Him alone. I am still here. That is the testimony."
